

Valwood School

W. Ed and Mary Crane Legacy Society

Founded 2016

The W. Ed and Mary Crane Legacy Society recognizes the generosity of alumni, faculty, staff and families that have made planned gifts to the school via a bequest, life insurance or 401K beneficiary designation, or many other types of financial planning.

Since 1968, Valwood School has provided students with a rich educational experience. No one had a clearer vision for the enduring legacy of the school than Ed and Mary Crane. The Cranes became interested in Valwood because they saw it as an opportunity to become a showcase school for the community. The result of their generosity has enabled Valwood to grow into one of the finest private school's in our area. The Cranes provided assurance that Valwood would continue to shape the community and the lives of its students.

The Cranes track record of philanthropic leadership is the perfect fit to represent the impact lifetime giving makes in advancing the role of Valwood School in this community and in the lives of those which it serves. The strength of Valwood depends in large part upon the foresight and support of those alumni, parents and friends who have chosen to include the school in their estate planning.

Valwood School recommends that you consult an estate planning professional or financial advisor to determine the best gift type for you.
